

What is claimed is:

1. A method for achieving a most favored risk management using a computer-based system comprising:

a) Means of providing risk management insurance policy coverage of at least Breach of Computer Security of the "Computer-Based System".

b) Means of comparing investment costs of risk prevention computer-based technology with one or more risk insurance policies.

2. A method of risk management that provides investment comparison of insurance and computer-based technology alternatives comprising:

a) Means of expressing risks to Company assets in common currency.

b) Means of expressing risk coverage of one or more computer-based technologies into common currency.

3. A method of risk management that expresses risks to company assets in common currency comprising:

a) Means of analyzing a Company's transactions and their corresponding effect on a Company's assets and expressing that risk in common currency.

b) Means of determining the flow of a Company's computer-based transactions and ranking them by risk expressed in common currency.

4. A method of expressing risk coverage of one or more computer-based technologies into common currency comprising:

a) Means of establishing a baseline of network risk though a vulnerability study.

b) Means of expressing computer-based technology investment risk in terms of common currency by estimating of at least one of the followings:

- (1) Number of people creating the risk.
- (2) The policy that can be developed and enforced in this risk area.
- (3) The value of the computer-based intellectual property available to this risk area.